Technology Update

After spending several months upgrading our wireless infrastructure and using classroom multimedia systems, the beginning of the 2014-2015 school year includes the deployment of student devices in the Newaygo Public School District. During the first two weeks of school, high school students were each issued a Lenovo Chromebook. This has been an exciting time and our students have been pros at carefully handling and learning about the Chromebook. High School teachers are also learning new things in terms of how to teach and help students learn in a digital environment. While there are many uses for student devices in the classroom, one example is shown in the picture. Ms. Mercer's students are all taking their vocabulary and literary device quizzes using their Chromebooks and the Google form created by the teacher. This allows for immediate feedback and the chance to study the words they missed over the weekend.

Currently, Chromebooks are being unpacked, configured and prepared for use grades 4-8. Our middle school students will not be taking the Dell Chromebooks off campus but will have access to the technology when the teacher deems appropriate. Finally, we hope to have iPads ready for all K-3 classrooms in the coming months.

Fire Safety Week

Friday October 10 wrapped up Fire Safety Week. Kindergarten students learned about fire safety and incorporated what they had learned into their reading, writing, math and social studies work. The fire department stopped by to show students the emergency vehicles, and how the other lifesaving equipment is used. It was a great experience for the students! Thank you to the fire department for your time. The kids loved their fire helmets!

What goes Up, Must come Down

The next time you see one of your favorite Newaygo kindergarteners, ask them about gravity. If you do, you are sure to get a wealth of knowledge on the topic! Our young scientists in kindergarten found out first-hand how exciting science could be by using the scientific method and applying it in the classroom. Students were wondering why some objects fall faster than others. After asking this question they used background knowledge to create a hypothesis. Once their hypothesis was created students then experimented by dropping different objects at the same time. Based on their findings, students made and discussed conclusions.

Thanks to all the students who have already been spreading the news about gravity! The world makes just a little more sense now.

Grandparents are GRAND!

Special Friends are SPECIAL!

As grandparents and special family friends are such a vital part of family life, the first graders at Vera Wilsie Elementary celebrated with them on September 26. The students in first grade invited their respective grandparents or a special person back to school for fun, learning and celebration. There were songs and stories in the gym and then the grandparents and specials were escorted to the classrooms where there were family trees to create a social studies objective, scavenger hunts to complete, lots of sharing and of course, treats! Mr. DeShano, the Vera Wilsie principal, even shared a treasured memory and picture of he and his grandfather with the first grade students and their guests. A sincere thank you goes out to all Grandparents and Special Friends for attending this event. You have helped make another loving lasting memory.

Constitution Day

On September 17, students participated in Constitution day. Kindergarten focused on parts of the American flag. They looked at stripes, stars, and shapes in the flag. Another item that was discussed was patterns. Students discussed, and organized patterns. Reinforcement writing activities were produced to show student learning. In the first grade many of the classes composed their own classroom constitution. Student discussions were held that compared the United States constitution to theirs in the classroom.

The Vera Wilsie Elementary School has become very creative in finding ways to help our school with no-cost programs. Listed below are the incentives we have found to be most valuable for us.. Any contribution you make helps us greatly.

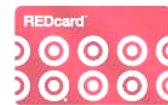

It's as simple as 1-2-3:

- 1)Purchase products that help benefit us
- 2)Clip
- 3)Return to our school, we'll do the rest!

Plumbs Cards - Pick up your Plumbs card at the elementary office and slide it each time you shop.

Designate our school and Target donates a portion of your credit card purchases made to our school.

AmeriGas School Days Program - Help earn your school cash when you turn in your Original AmeriGas propane receipt to us.

We are helping reduce the amount of waste that goes to the landfill. Our school is also raising money by collecting all makes and models of used printer, fax and toner cartridges, as well as cell phones. Please help us (and the environment) by turning in your empty cartridges and cell phones.

Velma Matson Upper Elementary

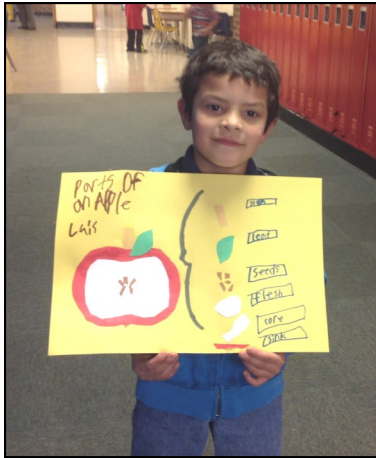

All third grade students attended a field trip to Camp Newaygo in October and participated in the G3 program (Get Outside, Get Environmental, Go Green!). Students spent the entire day outdoors learning content connected to science and social studies curriculum such as animal adaptations, natural resources, the water cycle, and the lumberjack era.

As the students in Mrs. Phillips class began to learn more about one another and also how to use descriptive details in their writing, they ventured out to find a “special rock”. Each student was on the search for a rock that was unique and made them feel special. Thinking like scientists and authors we returned to the class to gather our individual stones into our “class glass”. We discovered while each of us are unique in our own ways, we can come together to form one unique learning community. WE fit perfectly together.

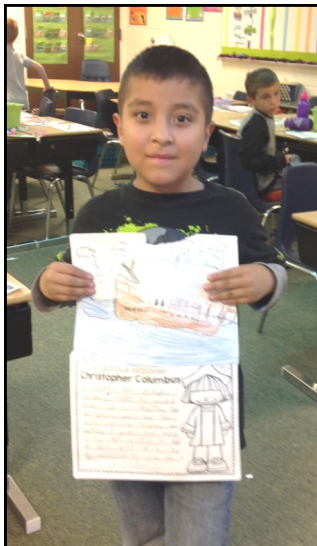

Velma Matson Upper Elementary

"Wow! This makes writing easier," blurted a second grade student while working on their expository writing piece on Christopher Columbus. On Tuesday, October 7, the second grade teachers met with Deb Larson for professional development training on the writing curriculum. Previously, they had been trained on narrative writing, or storytelling. One example of this is when the students wrote about "A time I Got Hurt". This year the second grade teachers are including expository writing, which includes report writing, comparing and contrasting, and opinion writing. The students continue to use their prior knowledge of thinking maps to write on all three types of expository writing. Students wrote about Christopher Columbus, fall trees, apples, or fire safety. Deb will come back again in January to continue the discussion on informational writing. This training will better prepare our students for all of the types of writing they are required to learn. Therefore, keep your eyes peeled for exciting stories coming home that range from storytelling to information about what they have learned.

Fund Raising for Classroom Snacks

Iris Herrera, a fourth grade student in Mr. Wright's class, saw a problem and took it upon herself to act. She noticed that not all the students in her class had snacks at snack time. Iris went to Go Fund Me, an on-line fund raising site, and set up a fund raiser to provide snacks for her classmates. She was able to raise $420.00 to provide her peers with a variety of snacks. Thank you so much Iris for your community service to Newaygo Public Schools. You are an example others can look up to.

Middle School

The middle school has some interesting offerings this year! In their ELO classes (Extended Learning Opportunities), the students have been given different options to extend their learning to include wood shop, fitness programs, chess, and other activities. Ask a middle school student today what they are doing in their ELO class.

Making Friends...Pen Pal Style

During writing class, all fifth grade students will be writing to pen pals. However, these aren't going to be your typical pen pals from across the state, country or ocean. These pen pals live right here in Newaygo. Mrs. Graff's classes are writing to the 2nd graders in Mrs. Pugno's class and the 3rd graders in Mrs. Longcore's class. Mrs. Harkness' students are writing to Mrs. Schisel and Mrs. Well's kindergarten classes. During this process, all students will be working on letter writing skills, reading skills, penmanship and/or typing skills, and communication skills. The best part of having a pen pal from the same community is that the students will get to meet each other several times throughout the year and will be able to create lifelong friendships and mentorships. Students from all classes involved anxiously anticipate receiving their letters in the school mail.

District News

November is Homeless Awareness Month

Currently there are over 86,000 homeless individuals in Michigan which ranks fifth in the United States, and first in the Midwest for the number of homeless residents. The average age of a child that lives in a homeless situation is eight years old. Twenty seven percent of children in Newaygo County are living in poverty. This is nearly double the state average of 15%. Currently there are 88 identified homeless students in the Newaygo Public Schools.

November is Homeless Awareness Month. To participate, Newaygo Public Schools is taking part in the Hoodies for Homeless clothing drive. Starting November 1 and running through November 30, each school will have a box labeled Hoodies for Homeless. You can drop off your new or gently used hooded sweatshirts at the stations located just inside the main doors of each school.

Thank you ahead of time for participating in this event. Together, many small things we do can make a huge difference!

Helping to Save Lives

Wednesday, October 8, 2014 the Newaygo High School Student Council held the first of three blood drives scheduled for this school year.

Students came through like never before.

The unit collection goal was set at 26. With 43 people registered to donate blood, 22 of them first-time donors participating, the goal was exceeded by 1 pint of blood with a total collection of 27 units!

A special thanks to MI Blood and our student donors!!
